Cheri McElroy

There's a diamond in the Finance Department. No, it's not a jewel, but a real gem – volunteer Cheri McElroy. During what's often the busiest time of year for the Center's finance team, Cheri has proven to be an invaluable asset. “Confident, punctual, enthusiastic and friendly”, Cheri helps the department keep on top of important tasks, streamlining processes, reconciling contributions, and diligently completing clerical tasks and research. Cheri exemplifies the dedication that is the hallmark of the Center's volunteer corps! The Finance Department is immensely grateful for her help and hard work!
